MARY GARDEN RAPS ICE BOX 'RAIDERS'

Chicago, Jan. 9 (AP)—The night-riders of the late nation have nothing to do with the ice-box raiders of '29. This today from Mary Garden, prima donna of the Chicago Civic Opera company.

The Scotch-American lass—still weighing 120 pounds, was speaking of the "refrigerator habit," as she calls it. If it were not for the well-filled modern refrigerator, American women would not be troubled by over-eat, she said, when accused of dining to maintain her weight.

Her sun bath on the shores of the Mediterranean she did not mention. "It's not a rest cure and it's not training," she continued; "it's common sense."

"Just tell women not to live like boys."

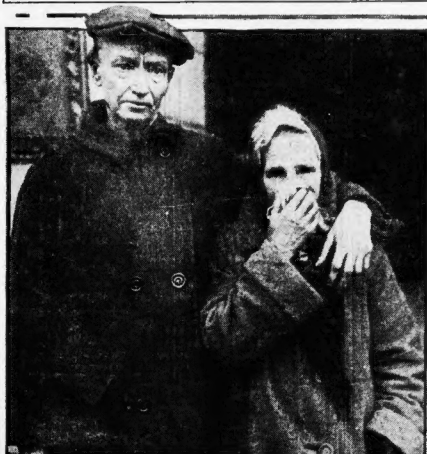

"Mother & Bar cannot resist a hot-bay free full of wild honey. Women are just the same. They come home from a bridge party and raid little own refrigerators."

Feminine raids on refrigerators have a foe to the slim lines which typified American womanhood a few years ago. Rounded lines are coming back because women can't control their appetites.

It is their own fault, women eat too much, Miss Garden, slender and electric as ever, expressed no sympathy for the rounded type of woman in America.

"American women," she said, "seem to be slaves to their loaves and forks. I haven't eaten dinner in years, just a cup of tea in the afternoon and for lunch I have no restriction, oysters, soup, my vegetables, salad, dessert, I eat what I want for breakfast."

Mrs. Stillman Stops Weekly

LEGLESS BODY OF HUB MAN ON COWCATCHER

The legless body of a man whose clothing was torn and who was found in the trunk of a car in the Metropolitan building, Boston, was found today on the cowcatcher of the Colonial Pier in New York.

One leg was discovered inside the trunk, a short distance back of the engine, after the train had been stopped by the signal man in Holden at 8:30 a. m. near the Althorpe station. The other leg was found on the track two miles back toward Boston.

Engineer R. J. Winslow was alerted when the signalman pointed out the legless body caught in the cowcatcher.

The train was run slowly into the Althorpe station, and the body removed from the engine.

According to his stenographer in the Metropolitan building, Richard A. Winslow, proprietor of an advertising service, left his Brooklyn home in his automobile at 8 a. m. and telephoned his office at 2 o'clock from Althorpe.

On Monday the stenographer had noted on a "memo pad," "Don't forget to bring back sign for Watson Co., Althorpe." This memo slip was found in one of his pockets.

The body was first noticed by Thomas Gilbert, a maintenance man who climbed a pole and telephone ahead to the tower man, who at the time was against the line.

CHARGED WITH TRYING TO BURN TWO ALIVE

Widow Brighton police characterizes as the most fiendish attempt at murder ever brought to their attention was revealed today with the arrest of Lee Book Lung, employed in a laundry in Commonwealth ave. Althorpe, on charges of trying to burn to death two other Chinese.

According to the police, Lung poured gasoline on the hair of Lee Lee, son of the laundry, and then set them alive as they slept.

The police said that Elizabeth's husband, suffering from first degree burns of neck, face and hands and later were transferred to city hospital, where their condition is considered critical.

Police say the trouble started last night when Lung protested he was not being paid enough, his weekly compensation ranging from $2 to $4 a week.

The argument lasted into the morning hours, when the three Chinese went to bed in the shop in the one-story brick structure.

Some time later, police say, Lung arose and poured gasoline on the hair of the other two Chinese, and then touched a lighted match to them. Awakened by their flaming hair, the two men rushed wildly about the shop, shrieking for help, while Lung, who had remained in glad, laughed at their suffering, police reported.

Lung and Lee managed to smother the flames in bedclothing, but in so doing set fire to the laundry. They rushed to the door, finding it locked, and then were unable to find the keys, which, police say, Lung had hidden at their suffering, police reported.

Prone with pain and fear, the two men then rushed to the window and, smashing the glass, attempted to escape through it to the street. Police say Lung tried to hold them back, and a terrific struggle ensued, ending when Lung and Lee broke away and clambered through the window.

HUNT FATHER OF NEGLECTED CHILDREN

With six children seriously ill in city hospital, mother in an institution, and their mother under a doctor's care, police today obtained a warrant for John Demling of 511 E. Jamaica Plain, charging neglect and failure to provide.

The warrant was obtained in West Broadway court, and a search for the missing man is being made.

Police action resulted from the discovery of conditions in the Demling home in Jamaica Plain, with the mother sick and discouraged, six of the children suffering from influenza and hardly any food of all in the house.

The children taken to the hospital are: Frederick Two, Wesley, four; Elizabeth, five; John, six; Phyllis, seven; and Evelyn, eleven, the smallest child, Martin 15, was placed in the Home for Destitute Catholic Children, as he was not afflicted with influenza.

Neighbors notified the police about conditions at the Demling home and Capt. Jeremiah Mosier of Division 12 sent two special officers to the house. They found Mrs. Demling with a cough, all but one of the children ill and the only food a small piece in the kitchen stove. The police for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was informed and the recovery of the family followed.

Chicago Lawyer Who Never Took Fee, Dies
Chicago, Jan. 9 (AP)—Arthur H. Murphy, 65, died today, and an unusual figure passed from the Chicago bar. Murphy never accepted a fee. Federal Judge acquired a habit of appointing him to defend the poor in their courts and it was said he had defended more prisoners than any other lawyer before the federal bar.

People of this temperament are usually able to guide their own lives accurately and with deliberate intent.

With many lines of possible development, it is just to say that this writer should remain in a governmental position—he might do as well in a profession and he would be a really wonderful historian. All things considered, it is in the line of historical writing that his most brilliant work might be done—but he has the lines that give more power of serene detachment than perhaps the most unusual quality.

and longer springs both front and rear.

Mechanically, the new Superior Whippet improves upon even its own predecessor. A higher compression engine gives considerably more speed, power and hill-climbing ability. Higher second gear speed gives faster pick-up. And the new car is well qualified to carry on Whippet's unsurpassed reputation for dependable performance and operating economy.

The Superior Whippet is the only low-priced car with the new "Finger-Tip Control"—a single button at the center of the steering wheel, which controls all functions of starting the motor, operating the lights and sounding the horn. The illustrations at the left clearly explain the operation of this great improvement!

We find the designation of Thayer O. Martin of Boston as chairman of the U. S. Trust Commission for the year 1929, a most appropriate one. Thayer O. Martin has been chairman of the U. S. Trust Commission for the year 1928, and his record in that position is well known. He is a man of high standing in the community, and his selection as chairman of the U. S. Trust Commission for the year 1929 is a reflection of the confidence in him.

BOSTON BANKS' 1928 GROWTH REVIEWED

Boston banks continued their growth in 1928, and expansion programs for 1929 have already been laid out by several local savings and trust institutions.

There is one less a sign of the continued growth of the Boston banking system. The National Bank, among the local companies, was an important member of the Boston Trust Association.

In recent years the tendency has been toward fewer national banks. The growth of the First National Bank, which recently moved into the new building at 101 Harvard ave., is a case in point.

Two local institutions, the National Bank and the Old Colony Trust Co., through the Shawmut Association, have acquired control of a number of banks in other parts of the state.

Republican Party Cannot Afford to Follow Borah on the Kellogg Pact

Senator Borah is leading the fight for the Kellogg pact. Senator Borah also led the fight for the navy destruction pact with Great Britain and Japan.

Under the sentimental arrangement the United States abandoned the naval supremacy to which it was justly entitled on account of its service in the World War, and on no count of the proof that it had used its navy to secure peace and promote world welfare.

Moreover, in destroying its navy the United States destroyed real ships, glorious and useful, and the Kellogg pact was necessary for the protection of the country and built for our defense at a cost to our citizens of hundreds of millions of dollars.

On the other hand, Great Britain tore up plans of battleships that it contemplated building some time in the possible future, and, together with Japan, had a good laugh at Uncle Sam's credulity, not to say gullibility.

Was Senator Borah's leadership in this plan to destroy the navy of the United States so good and so satisfactory to the people of the United States that the Senate should follow his leadership in the matter of promoting the Kellogg pact and neglecting the present Navy bill?

Why should the Republican Party follow leadership of this kind?

Any party can afford to make some mistakes, but no party can afford to go out of its way to defy the often-expressed desire of the masses of the people.

On every possible occasion the great masses of the public have shown their desire to keep this country out of foreign entanglements of every possible kind and description. And on every occasion they have shown their desire to build up a strong navy as a means of defense.

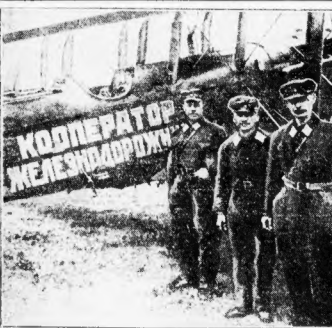

In the face of the well-known and often-expressed wishes of the people of this country we have the spectacle of the Senate laying aside the Administration's cruiser bill for taking up an international scheme known as the multilateral pact of Paris, with its vague and indefinite commitments to stand or act with European nations and its probable abandonment of fundamental American principles like the Monroe Doctrine and "no foreign entanglements."

The Republican Party should not be overconfident. The Democratic Party built up the navy once before, when the Republican Party had refused to do it. The Democratic Party is not dead. A defection of fifteen per cent, three million votes, from the Republican Party's total in the recent election, if transferred to the Democratic side, would give the Democratic Party a majority.

There are more than three million patriotic voters in the Republican Party who do not want that party to bring the country into foreign entanglements, and who DO want the means to defend their country against possible foreign aggression.

Something New

Russian Workmen Give Airplanes to Their Government.

ONE OF 2 AIRPLANES GIVEN TO RUSSIA BY LABORING MEN

This airplane, but powerful, built for SPEED AND FIGHTING, is presented to Russia's fighting air fleet by Russian RAILWAY WORKERS.

Russian lettering on the side of the ship means that the plane is named the "Co-operator."

Twenty other planes have been given to Russia by different groups of Russian workers.

This is something new. In this country radicals sometimes oppose national defense, saying, "We should all be brothers and not fight each other," which is a mild but, unfortunately, NOT harmless form of lunacy.

Russian workers are intelligent; they know that when fighting comes it is the workingmen that MUST do the fighting, the killing and bear the loss that comes afterwards.

Therefore they intend that their nation, RUSSIA, shall be in a position to defend herself when the time comes, and at their own expense they build and give to the Government high grade fighting airplanes.

When bankers from New York, called on Abraham Lincoln demanding a warship be kept constantly in New York Harbor, "because of the vast sums of money on deposit in our city," Lincoln replied good-naturedly, "If I had as much money as you say YOU have, I would build a warship at my own expense to protect my money."

Russian workmen are building fighting ships at THEIR expense in last few columns.

Why Clock Hands Are Pointed

by Herbert Kaufman

Figures are full of half truths. That's why courts are full of receivers' suits.

So don't gulp any broad statement without the salt of analysis. And sprinkle it especially thick on statistics claiming to prove the average life span has recently been lengthened by fifteen years.

Facts show that we're not living longer than heretofore—the gain is all at other end—fewer folk are dying as young as they used to.

Better feeding and saner care of infants is one salvaging factor. The wiping out of childhood scourges, like diphtheria and scarlet fever—together with adenoid and tonsil removal—are others.

And Nathan Straus' magnificent battle for pasteurization and milk inspection, has also helped to give every seventh infant the chance for survival that previous ignorance denied.

We are managing to protect human seedlings from the blights that nipped their expectation, but the proverbial three-score-and-ten deadline still halts the same heavy percentage of adult careers.

Despite miracles of surgery, sanitation, inoculation and antiseptics, medical progress—calculating population by billions (not random exceptions)—as yet offers faint hope of raising the life limit.

The human machine, like the deacon's one horse shay, seems destined for definite terms of service.

When essential parts wear out, it ceases to operate. Even Doctor Voronoff now concedes that.

Sensible diet, regular schedules, cautious habits and promptly repaired flaws will prevent premature obsolescence, but only remarkable constitutions remain efficient and continue to hit on all cylinders beyond seventy.

The hands of the clock wear points to prick laggards into action; every tick utters warning to invest your restricted capital of strength and imagination in reason.

Initiative is slower on the pick-up after the first half century. It's much easier to take the hard grades under youth's gleam.

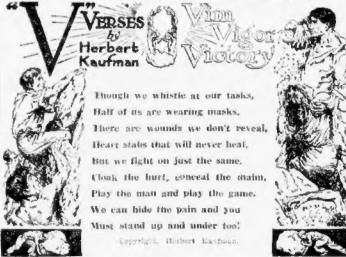

Make the most of your time—ride high tide. Step on it, while the motor's humming and the gears are in perfect mesh.

Press the engine before brain cogs lose temper and springs start to sag.

A rattler can't be driven at pitch speed. Each tomorrow finds less gas in the tank and air in the tires.

Opportunity has a one word vocabulary. And every chance-misser and self-wrecker will tell you, that word is—NO!

expense to protect THEIR country.

And that is a REMARKABLY GOOD SIGN FOR RUSSIA.

In the days of Czars and Grand Dukes, busy squandering and spending public money, the Russian people felt that the Government didn't belong to them.

That is why the Russian beat Russia so easily, as this newspaper predicted that it would do when the war started.

But anybody fighting Russia today wouldn't fight drunken Dons, Dukes and feeble Czars, but would fight THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE, the type of men you see in this picture.

And if you think they are easy to beat, you don't know — Russians. Ask the European nations that tried to force Russia into submission under Lenin. They could not do it.

LISTEN, WORLD!

THIS is a true story. It may be the story of a strange or it may be the story of a natural happening. I do not know. I only know that it is the story of beauty and beauty is always a comforting miracle.
